A Correction.

In our last issue we stated that Levi Foster cut Sam Portwood with a knife on Saturday night at the corner of Main and First streets. In getting the names of the parties we were informed that it was Levi Foster who did the cutting, which was erroneous. It was Ira Foster, Jr., and not Levi Foster, as we stated. We gladly make the correction.

Big Sale of Horses.

The saddle horses of Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes, Jr., of Danville, were auctioned off last Wednesday. In the dispersal sale, the breeders of saddle stock were greatly encouraged by the uniformly high run of prices. Twenty-eight head brought $7,829, an average price of $281. The top price of $1,500 was paid by James McDowell for Kentucky's Choice and he will be returned to Bellevue Farm to become the property of the man who managed him for years. Edna May, one of the most famous saddle mares of the present day, was sold to A. G. Jones, of Bourbon county, for $1,125.

If you can spare it, we will appreciate that dollar

New Homes.

Mr. M. F. Enright and family have moved into their new home on West Main. This residence was recently completed and is one of the handsome homes of Burnsmoorwood, which is one of the beautiful residence sections of our charming city.

The residence of Mr. Ollie Powell is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy. This residence is located on Broadway in the northern part of the city, and is a beautiful and imposing house.

The new brick residence of the Nelson Brothers on South Second street will soon be completed. It is a hand-some two story brick and will make an ideal home, and will add much to the section of the city.

Big Democratic Rallies.

Last week in many places fires were started under the kettles and thousands of gallons of Kentucky burgoo were made to appease the appetites of thousands of Democrats and others who gathered at the big rallies of Hon. A. O. Stanley and Senator Ollie M. James.

Friday, the Democratic hosts of Breathitt county, held a rousing meeting at Jackson. It is said that one of the largest crowds that ever attended a political meeting was present to hear the Matchless Stanley preach the gospel of Democracy. The Second Regiment Band, of this city, furnished the music for the occasion, and the boys report one of the greatest meetings they ever attended. Stanley delivered some sledge-hammer blows, which had a most vulnerable effect upon the mighty throng.

While Mr. Stanley was propounding Democracy at Jackson, Senator Ollie M. James was thrilling and cheering a great crowd at Lancaster. For more than a week the local campaign committee had been actively engaged making preparations for this monster meeting. The people came from far and near, the day was an ideal one, there was plenty to eat, everybody was happy and joyous, and it is said to be one of the most representative political gatherings ever assembled in Garrard county. Senator Sames made a great speech and received a grand ovation. Garrard county will give Stanley and the entire state a large majority.

On Saturday, possibly the biggest rally and barbecue held in the State for many years, was given at Maysville. No expense was spared in making this the greatest event in that good old town. Not only did the Democrats of Mason county unite in giving the next Governor of Kentucky a grand ovation, but they were joined by the Democratic hosts of Bracken, Lewis and Fleming counties. Flemingsburg was the home of Stanley during his early life, and thousands from Fleming county assembled at Maysville to hear this distinguished son of Kentucky, this tried and true friend of the people, deliver his message. Not since the Peerless Bryan made his first tour of Kentucky in 1890, has such a crowd been seen in Maysville as was there Saturday. And the crowd was not in the least disappointed in the message which Mr. Stanley delivered. The Democratic ticket will receive a handsome plurality in this section.

From reports coming from all sections of the State Mr. Stanley will receive the largest plurality ever given a candidate for Governor. His plurality is being placed at 40,000.

Education in Kentucky.
Kentucky has a history with as much of tragedy and romance, of fascination and inspiration as has any State in the Union. Every reader appreciates what Daniel Boone and Abraham Lincoln did for the mountains and blue grass of Kentucky, but few understand even faintly how many phases of Kentucky life have represented ed foreshort and heroism, energy and pluck, patriotism and culture.

In the eighteenth century provisions were made for county academies, each county in the State ultimately receiving 6,000 acres of land to provide a fund to aid in the support of an academy in the county. Not even Massachusetts had such a county vision in the eighteenth century.

In 1821 was passed an act to establish a "Literary Fund," and not even Governor Clinton, of New York, or Governor Wolfe, of Pennsylvania, ever voiced more brilliantly the need of public education than did Lieutenant Governor W. T. Berry and his committee associates in 1821.

Here is a paragraph—

Popular education is the proof which sustains free institutions, and the lever which overthrows the oppressor's throne. Happily, we are not laboring to undermine a fabric of despotism; but to remove the work on which tyrants build. It was not Caesar that overthrew the liberties of Rome—it was ignorance. It was not Napoleon that made France a despotism—it was ignorance.

That extended report contains correspondence with the ablest men in America, many of whom wrote an educational classic. That was almost a hundred years ago. The letter of the venerable ex-president of the United States, John Adams, far into the eighties, is a worthy companion piece to the letters received from Thomas Jefferson. In 1837, when Horace Mann was ready to devote himself to the public school cause in Massachusetts, Kentucky set aside a million dollars as a public school fund.

In 1838, following close upon the laws of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, Kentucky established a State Board of Education, the same law they now have, and established the office of State Superintendent. Kentucky was one of the very first States in the Union to take those two steps.

In 1838, before the Normal School was opened—let Lexington, Massachusetts—the first State Superintendent of Kentucky, J. J. Ballard, made an appeal for a State Normal School.

That Kentucky did not realize her educational ideals of those early days is due to the variety and violence of problems which she had to face. With the delays and their causes, we do not concern ourselves.

Each of the nineteen State Superintendents has worked for educational advance and each achieved something of which he and his descendants may well be proud, but circumstances and personalities have made three administrations stand out conspicuously for their noble accomplishments.

Students of the educational history of Kentucky must always give first place to the administration of Robert Jefferson to Breckenridge, D. D. LL. D., from 1847 to 1853. It was he who made the permanent school system a "free public school system."

Second place will always be given to Hon. Zachary F. Smith, 1867-1871. Breckenridge had written the word "free" into law but during the war and immediately after the war money was sadly lacking. It was the noble mission of Mr. Smith to provide for the permanent financing of the "free" school idea.

The third place will always be accorded to Hon. J. C. Crabb, LL. D., now president of the Eastern State Normal School at Richmond. It was Mr. Crabb who lifted the people of the entire State up to the Common Free School idea and support. More than one hundred and fifteen years ago the fathers of Kentucky had the first county unit vision in the New World, but it was one hundred years before Dr. Crabb breathed into that idea the breath of life. He was the genius and the tenderness that developed the "whirlwind campaigns" of 1908 and 1909, awakening a popular demand for advanced educational legislation, the greatest change in public sentiment in two years that has ever been known in any State in the Union. Most fortunately the present State Superintendent, Barksdale Hamlet, has been able and willing to continue the perfection of the educational system of Kentucky.

ROUTE OF THE ALLIES CUT OFF

Austro-German Forces Begin a More Vigorous Offensive in the North, Crossing the Danube Near Orsova. Russian Troops Landed in Courland Re-embark—Hindenburg Striving to Reach the Dvina.

London, Oct. 25.—An official dispatch from Sofia states that the Bulgarian army has taken Uskup, an important junction on the Salonica-Nish railway, and has thus placed itself across the route by which the allies' reinforcements for the Serbs would travel. The Austro-Germans, in the north, have begun a more vigorous offensive and have crossed the Danube near Ossova. This brings them nearer the linking up of the armies of the Germanic allies and those of Bulgaria and the opening of the way through Bulgaria to Constantinople.

Success is not being achieved without heavy losses, as the Serbian veterans, well entrenched in their mountain-tanks, are offering stubborn resistance and are making the invaders pay a big price for every mile of country invaded.

French troops are fighting beside the Serbs in the southeastern section, and reports from Athens says that the allied powers have launched a general offensive along the Tyrol and Trentino frontiers of Austria, allied armament, including Russian vessels, have battered the Bulgarian ports in the Aegean and Black seas are being bombarded and it is believed that the Austro-Germans will be sent to Serbia by still another route. Without the active co-operation of Greece and Roumania, however, the allies, it is feared here, will not be able to do much for some weeks.

The Russian troops who have landed at Domessene, Courland, have succeeded to Berlin, re-embarked. If this is so, it is probable that the landing was intended as a diversion, in the plan of driving German troops from the Riga and Dvinsk regions, where very heavy fighting is still in progress.

There is no news of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's drive toward the Dvina, southeast of Riga, but northwest of Dvinsk has made another attempt to reach the river and claims to have forced the Russians from their positions, inflicting great losses on them and taking nearly 3,000 prisoners. Iloukt, which has figured prominently in all the recent communications, has been captured by the Germans.

The persistence with which the Germans are attacking in this region shows the importance they attach to the capture of Dvinsk and Riga and the line of the Dvina river before winter sets in.

On the rest of the eastern front the Russians continue their isolated attacks, which are designed to prevent the Germans from establishing a line of intrenchments such as they succeeded in doing before Warsaw last year, after their first attempt to take the city failed.

Except for a few attacks by the Germans, the fighting in the west has consisted for the most part of artillery engagements and some exciting contests between the air men.

The Bulgarians, though hampered by bad weather, are driving further into the interior of Serbia, while the Austro-German forces on the north and east frontiers are maintaining terrific pressure and moving slowly forward.

Russia claims that the German drive at the Baltic port of Riga has been halted. The situation on the western front remains unchanged.

C. DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Duly Designated by President Wilson, Who Issues Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Wilson, in his proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving Day, called attention to the fact that the United States has been at war while most of Europe has been at war.

"We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal," said the president. He invites the people throughout the land "to cease from their wonted occupations on Thanksgiving day and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God."

The president says further: "Our country is now so great that we could afford to sacrifice our services in the midst of crises has been increased, by a gracious Providence, by more and more abundant crops; our ample financial resources have enabled us to steady the markets of the world, and our people have come more and more to a sober realization of the part they have been called upon to play in a time when all the world is shaken by unparalleled distresses and disasters."

Nine Germans Missing.

Washington, Oct. 23.—An official list of the missing members of the crews of the two German auxiliary cruisers interned at Norfolk, issued by the navy department, shows that of a total of 785 officers and men, one commissioned officer, two doctors and six warrant officers have broken parole. Not one bluejacket is missing.

MRS. M. JOSEPH SAYS 'EXCELLENT'

Louisville Woman Asserts Tanlac Benefited Her Wonderfully.

Louisville, Ky., October 26—Mrs. Minnie Joseph, wife of Louis Joseph, the well-known employee of Fontaine Ferry Park, is among the hundreds of Louisville people who recently have invaded Tanlac. Mrs. Joseph said:

"I have suffered from nervous debility several years. My system was all run down. I had nervous headaches and generally depressed in spirits.

"I used a number of preparations in the hope of bettering my condition, but nothing seemed to accomplish the right results until I began taking Tanlac. Tanlac has proved a most excellent tonic in my case. It made me wonderfully. I am so much better and I willingly recommend this medicine."

Tanlac, the popular preparation, can now be had in Richmond at H. L. Perry's drug store. —adv

An Aged Citizen.

On September 17, Mr. John Helton, of the Aaron's Run neighborhood, celebrated the hundredth anniversary of his birth. "Uncle John," as he is familiarly called, is Hale and hardy and says he never took a dose of medicine in his life. He is decidedly the oldest man in Montgomery county and looks good for several years to come. He cultivated a small crop of tobacco this year and farmed generally on a small scale. He is very industrious and happiest when he is at work.

The Hamlet Voucher.

Republicans are making great capital out of the voucher which Barksdale Hamlet, Superintendent of Public Instruction, received for the sum of $13.80 from the taxpayers of Kentucky for expenses incurred at the Palmer House in Paducah last May, when his hotel bill was said to have been only $2.00.

For the sake of argument we will admit this is absolutely true. We will also admit that everything the Republicans have alleged in this campaign is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

If the Democrats are as black as they have been painted by the Republicans, the record of the Democratic party in Kentucky is like a bottle of clear, sparkling water beside a bottle of midnight ink. The bottle of clear water represents the record of the Democratic party and the midnight ink represents the record of the Republican party.

Turn the searchlight on the past; go back to the years when Governor Bradleyp was in the executive chair; turn your attention for a few minutes to the time when W. S. Taylor was at Frankfort; take into consideration the great amount of the taxpayers' money squandered upon a lawless mob; behold an empty public treasury, depleted by wanton graft; gaze upon the lifeless form of a matchless defender and champion of the people's rights, his life being snuffed out by an assassin's bullet fired from the Capital Building which was presided over by the Republican party; refresh your memory of the time when the militia paraded the streets, under orders of a Republican Governor, and then tell us, Mr. Voter, if you endorse these things. Look the record of the Democratic party over and see if you can find a parallel in all its history wherein it so defrauded, disgraced and bankrupted the State as during the Republican regime at Frankfort. If you can, then our advice to you is to vote the Republican ticket from top to bottom.

Big Button Order

The F. A. Neider Co., of Augusta, Ky., manufacturers of auto trimmings, is in receipt of an order from an automobile company in Detroit for 154,000 gross of clinch buttons—more than 23,000,000—for immediate delivery. This is the largest order ever received by this company, and these buttons will furnish more than 200,000 automobiles. The order will keep the plant busy until Jan. 1.

Kentuckians on U.S. Pension Roll

There were 19,491 Kentuckians on the U. S. Pension rolls on July 16, the beginning of the fiscal year, according to a recent statement made by the Commissioner of Pensions. The amount paid to Kentucky pensioners during the last year was $4,313,894.

Two Million Men Crippled

There are now 2,000,000,000 men in Europe who have suffered the loss of limbs, facilities, or both as a result of injury in the war, according to Frank G. Gilbreth, or Providence, R. I., who has just returned from Germany, where he has been studying methods for giving employment to cripples. Mr. Gilbreth has been requested by Germany to instruct a corps of teachers how to enable crippled fighting men to become productive members of society after the war.

A paper by Mr. Gilbreth, read before the society of American engineers said that the problem of designing machines for cripples must be solved in the near future.

SEEING LIFE with JOHN HENRY by George V. Hobart

John Henry on Human Nature

SAY! Did you ever sit around in the Pullman Car and study a few paragraphs from the world's most famous text book—human nature?

Go after it the first chance you get—you'll learn it at lot.

For instance, during a trip recently on one of Mr. Pullman's sleep-wagons I soon learned that the brisk and breezy crew in the seats around me were commercial travelers, and they were fanning each other with fairy tales about the goods they sold.

I learned that the one who looked like a human apple was affectionately known as Slim because he's so fat that every time he turns around he meets himself coming back.

And it was a hairy hair that the tall one with the sandy hair was Nick Dalrymple, who goes after the orders for a hardware house in Columbus and knows everybody in the world—but one family living in Yonkers.

Then there was Tod Gilpin, who cuts ice for a match factory in Newark, and he's the life of a small party.

Tod's main hold is to creep into the "reading room" of a Rube hotel after the chores are done of an evening and throw salve the come-ons.

Tod told them that their town is the brightest place in the map and when he warms up to the men and want to buy him sarsaparilla and root beer. Then when he gets them stuck on their wives he sells them matches.

Presently I learned that the party with the mauve forehead and the magenta mustache was Mutt Dawson—the most reckless spendthrift with his words and the meanest man to the English language I ever listened to.

The Dream Builders' Association was in full session when Wedge Murray caromed over and weighed-in with the party.

Wedge is a saucy little party, five foot four, with three foot shoulders. I learned that Wedge sells canned shirt-waists for the Shine Brothers, and if he's ever let into the firm it will be as a brother.

Wedge is one of those goose-headed ginks who scratch gravel and start in to make a killing every time he wouldn't be so bad, but mix on the smoke for him.

He simply sits there with a face like a fish and keeps George Nicotine

he sat on the arm of the seat and steamed up.

In less than a minute he crowded the information on them that he was a millionaire who had escaped from Los Angeles, California, and he was just going to put them both in grand opera, when Slim toddled over to him and said: "Next stop Erie! You told me to remind you to send that telegram to your wife in Logansport."

The Roast-Beef Sisters seemed to be all carved up about something or other.

When these more or less grin-producing incidents were occurring there was ever present in my own noodle the grim reality that bedtime was approaching and I had drawn an upper berth.

Say! I'll be one of a party of six to go before Congress and tell all I know about an upper berth.

As I tried to tie up a small bundle of sleep a boiler factory has it beat to a whimper.

Strong men weep every time the ticket agent says, "Nothing left but an upper," and lovely women have hysterics and begin to make faces at the general public when the colored porters points up in the air and says, "Madam, your eagle's nest is ready away now in the train rack with my lap and sit up on the towel rack while I took a little smoke.

Did you ever notice on your travels that peculiar howl on the train that a man makes for a bear and all space displaces eight dollars' worth of smoke in the smoking car?

If he would bite the end of a piece of rope and light up occasionally he wouldn't be so bad, but mix on the smoke for him.

He simply sits there with a face like a fish and keeps George Nicotine

was sleeping as noisily as possible, and when I started up the stepladder he began to render Mendelssohn's obligato for the trombone in the key of G.

Above the roar of the train from away off in lower No. 2 faintly I could hear an answering bugle call.

I climbed up prepared for the worst and in the twinkling of an eye the porter removed the stepladder and there I was sitting on the perilous edge of my pantry shelf with nothing to comfort me save the exhaust of a professional snorer.

After about five minutes devoted to a paroxysm of all my sins, I began to try to extract my personality from my coat, but when I pushed my arm up into the air to get the sleeve loose my knuckles struck the hardwood finish and I fell backward on the cast-iron pillows, breathing hoarsely like a busy jackrabbit.

I waited about ten minutes while my brain was bobbing back and forth with the excitement of running fifty miles an hour over a carefree part of the country, and then I cautiously tried to approach my shoe laces.

Say! If you're a man and you weigh in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, most of which is in the region of the equator, you will appreciate what it means to lie on your back in an upper berth and try to get your shoes off.

This is twice double for the man who weighs more than 200 pounds.

Every time I reached for my feet to get my shoes off I bumped my head off; so I decided that in order to keep my head on I had better keep my shoes on also.

Then I tried to divorce my suspenders from my shoulders but just as I got the suspenders half way over my head I struck my crazy bone on the rafters, and there I was, suspended between heaven and earth, but praying with all my heart for a bottle of alcohol.

Finally I decided to sleep as nature made me, with all my clothes on, including my rubbers.

So I stretched out, but just then the train struck a curve and I went up in the air till the ceiling hit me, and then I bounced over to the edge of the precipice and hung there, trembling on the verge.

Below me all was dark and gloomy, and only by the hoarse groans of the snorers could I tell that the Pullman company was still making money.

Luck was with me, however, for just then the train struck an in-shoot curve which pushed me to the wall, and I bumped my head so completely that I fell asleep.

When I woke up a small package of daylight was peeping into the car, so I decided to descend from my cupboard shelf at once.

I peeped out through the aluminum curtains, but there was no sign of the colored porter and the stepladder was invisible to the naked eye.

The car was peaceful now, with the exception of a gent in lower No. 4, who had a strange hold on a Beethoven sonata and was beating the cadence out of it.

I made a short prayer and concluded to fall out, but just then one of my feet rested on something solid; so I put both feet on it and began to step down.

Alas, however, the moment I put my weight on it my stepping stone gave way and I fell overboard with a splash.

"How dare you put your feet on my head?" yelled the man on the ground below my bedroom.

"Excuse me, it felt like something wooden," I whispered, while I dashed madly for the smoker.

From that day to this I have never been able to look a Pullman car in the face, and whenever anybody mentions an upper berth to me I lose my presence of mind and get peevish.

If you have ever been there yourself I know you don't blame me!

Do you?

"Well," exclaimed the gabby on from Kansas City, "what is politics? Well, what is it?"

"Politics," replied Wise Willie from Providence, "politics is where we get it—sometimes in the bank, sometimes in the neck!"

Everybody present peeled the cover off a loud laugh and the smokers hooted at the window stole four inches extra space so that he could shake more when he giggled.

"Well," resumed the inquisitive person from Kansas City, "what is a politician? Do you know? Eh, well, what is a politician?"

"A politician," replied the fat man from Providence, "a politician is a person who has sold his soul to the Devil."

"A statesman is a politician in good luck," was the comeback from our fat friend from Providence, and in the enthusiasm which followed the smokeless hog found out there was no

KENTUCKY HOSPITALITY

All Delegates to Lexington Convention Will Be Entertained by Local Suffragists.

The suffragists of the Fayette Equal Rights Association desire to entertain all delegates to the annual convention of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association in Lexington Nov. 8-10. Mrs. N. W. Clare, 365 S. Ashland avenue, Lexington, Ky., is chairman of the Hospitality Committee, and it is requested that all persons who expect to attend the Lexington convention as delegates send their names and addresses at once to Mrs. Clare, that she may arrange for their entertainment. Headquarters of the convention will be at the Phoenix Hotel and all business and night sessions of the convention will be held there, except that of the opening night, when Mrs. Snowden speaks at the Lexington Opera House.

A banquet will be given in the ballroom of the Phoenix Tuesday evening, for which tickets may be secured in advance price $1.00, from Mrs. J. E. Judd, 2115 Murray avenue, Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Clarence Lebus, of Lexington, is the local Chairman in charge of banquet arrangements.

MRS. DESHA BRECKINRIDGE, of Lexington, President of the K. E. R. A., ends her three-year term of office as President at the annual meeting to be held in Lexington, Nov. 8-10, and her successor will be chosen. The membership of the K. E. R. A. has gone up since November, 1912, when from 1,779 members to over 15,000, an increase typical of the rapid advance of suffrage sentiment everywhere in the last few years.

MADAME ROSIKA SCHWIMMER, of Buda Pest, Hungary, will deliver her wonderful address on Peace at the suffrage convention in Lexington, Tuesday, November 9. Madame Schwimmer came to this country in 1914 as the representative of the women's organizations of many countries to plead for concerted intervention of the neutral nations for cessation of hostilities in Europe. None who heard her fiery eloquence, her impassioned pleading, her description of what she said was not war but "the destruction of Europe and of civilization" can soon forget. After the International Congress of Women at The Hague Madame Schwimmer was one of the delegation of three women, of whom Jane Addams is the one best known to Americans, to wait upon the rulers of six European countries.

MRS. SAMUEL HENNING, of Louisville, Auditor of the K. E. R. A., was Miss Judia Duke, daughter of General Basil Duke, himself a believer in woman suffrage, as are many of the Confederate veterans of Kentucky, and a niece of that other beloved Confederate leader, John Morgan. Mrs. Henning has recently concluded a term as President of the Louisville Woman Suffrage Association.

Ministers Endorse Suffrage. The ministers of the Northern Methodist Church of Kentucky adopted in September strong resolutions endorsing woman suffrage. At the state convention of the Christian Church even more ringing and specific resolutions were adopted. With the moral forces of the state lining up in active support of the woman suffrage cause, the question has become a "major issue" in Kentucky. The Kentucky Federation of Labor stands always for suffrage. The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, numbering 18,000 women, has repeatedly endorsed woman suffrage.

SPECIAL BARGAIN OFFER FOR SUFFRAGISTS.

If you want the news of the suffrage movement in the world over and in every state of the Union, subscribe to "The Woman's Journal," published in Boston, edited by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell. Weekly. Price $1.00 a year. Six months, 50c; four months, 25c. Under $3c of every dollar subscribed in Kentucky goes to the local suffrage work. Send in your name and address to the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, 72 McClelland Building, Lexington, Ky.

Kentucky Carlsbad Springs

Famous Mineral Water and Nature's Great Remedy.

This famous water is pumped from the earth 1100 feet deep and is a greenish color, entirely free from organic or surface matter and possesses wonderful healing power. Scores of people claim to have been cured of rheumatism, bright's disease, stomach, kidney and liver trouble, bladder, catarrh in the head and bowel disorders by the use of this water. If you are afflicted with any of the above ailments and will use this water for two weeks according to directions and don't receive the desired result your money refunded by the merchant who sold you the water and you are the sole judge in the matter. There is other water being shipped from Dry Ridge claiming to be Carlsbad water or just as good. It is not genuine. Don't buy any unless it bears the Kentucky Carlsbad on the wrapper. We have the Perry's drug store or it may be ordered direct from the springs. Write us for our booklet telling what this water has done for others.

Comes to Kentucky.

The annual meeting of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association was held in Bluefield, W. Va., last week. All the southern states were represented. The meeting closed on Friday afternoon, after selecting Lexington as the place of meeting for 1916. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Joseph Hyde Pratt, Chapel Hill, N. C., president and treasurer; Herr, Roberts, Bristol, Va.-Tenn., vice-president at large; C. B. Scott, Virginia, secretary; Miss H. M. Berry, North Carolina, assistant secretary; James Maret was named as State vice-president for Kentucky, and C. C. Crabbe, of the same state, was placed on the Executive Committee.

NOTICE TO THE VOTERS

Sept. 30, 1915.

To The Voters of Madison County

I am addressing you in the interest of my candidacy to represent the county in the next Legislature. I wish to say I have always had a desire to represent the county in that body, because of my varied experience in matters pertaining to what I deem to be for the best interests of the State.

In the first place, I was born and reared upon the farm and am still a farmer, believe I know what is the best interests of the farmers, and at the same time, believe there should be nothing passed through and enacted into legislation that would prove detrimental to other callings or legitimate business of any kind; and having been engaged as a merchant and having a general knowledge of business and the needs of the general public, I believe I can represent all classes fairly and to the best interests of the State.

For many years I have taught in the public schools of the county, as to my qualifications and ability to represent the county. I refer to those who know me best: I have never in my life tasted intoxicating liquors, and believe in the strict enforcement of the County Unit Law, and favor the enforcements of all laws.

I favor a better taxing system, and lower taxes; longer school terms and new changes in school books; last but not least, I believe in good roads economically constructed.

While I have always affiliated with the Republican party, I am not a partisan and do not entertain bitter feelings for the Democracy, and will greatly appreciate any Democratic aid that may be given me.

I solicit your votes irrespective of party, and if elected, shall endeavor to act honestly in the discharge of the duties that come upon me, doing in every instance what I deem to be the best interests of all;

Yours truly,

G. B. Moore.

Summing Up the Evidence

Many Richmond People Have Been Called As Witnesses.

Week after week has been published the testimony of Richmond people—kidney sufferers—backache victims—people who have endured many forms of kidney, bladder or urinary disorders. These witnesses have used Doan's Kidney Pills. All have given their enthusiastic approval. It is the same everywhere. 30,000 American men and women are publicly recommending Doan's—always in the home papers. Isn't it a wonderful, convincing mass of proof? If you are a sufferer your verdict must be "Doan's first."

Mrs. Nelson Ross, 419 Laurel St., says: "My kidneys were irregular in action and I had pains through my back. At times I was nervous and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ross had. Foster-Millburn Co. Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

PRISON FARM SHOWS PROFIT

Experiment of Board of Prison Commissioners Solves Problem

MEANS SAVING TO TAXPAYERS

Interesting Statement Issued by Warden A. J. G. Wells, of the Kentucky State Reformatory—State Farm Shows Profit of $4,826.81 During Fourteen Months.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special).—The experiment of employing the prisoners of the state on the State Farm seems to be a decided success. After a thorough trial of the plan of the Board of Prison Commissioners and Warden Wells, there is a net profit to the state of $4,826.81 in fourteen months.

At the request of R. C. Terrell, Commissioner of Roads, A. J. G. Wells, Warden of the Kentucky State Reformatory, has prepared a statement covering the period the plan has been in operation. Warden Wells calls his two years' experience with a limited number of prisoners "most satisfactory."

Card To The Public.

I was a candidate for the nomination for Circuit Clerk in our recent Democratic primary. I made a clean fight without the aid of election frauds. Our present nominee, Mr. James Wagors, was my opponent. Only one could be nominated and I was defeated and Mr. Wagors won. It is my wish, and I believe it will be granted, that every friend of mine will vote the straight Democratic ticket. I insist that every friend who voted for me in the primary, do his utmost to elect Mr. Wagors. The reports that have been circulated that I and my friends will not support Mr. Wagors are utterly unfounded and false. The Republican scheme of soliciting Democrats to give a complimentary vote to Mr. Grider, is undemocratic and objectionable to me. I hope that no one will fall into the trap.

Grand Lodge Meeting.

The Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Kentucky began a two days' session at Lexington Tuesday morning, more than two hundred representatives being in attendance. Much business of importance will come before the body. The local lodges of the Bluegrass metropolis have made great preparations for the entertainment of the visiting brothers. The $120,000 Orphans' Home of Kentucky Pythians is located at Lexington and the representatives will visit this great institution during their stay in the city. Normal City Lodge, No. 162, of Richmond is represented in the Grand Lodge by the following: Messrs. Frank Leslie Russell, D. Willis Kennedy, T. C. Vaughn and W. B. Lackey. Owing to business matters Mr. W. F. Higgins was prevented from attending the meeting.

The philanthropic spirit of the Shelby Woman's Club is shown by the fact that it is backing the colored King's Daughters' Circle in building a hospital for their race in that town.

Dates have been arranged for the traveling gallery of slides of American paintings to appear at the Lexington High School and at Harrodsburg, Danville and Hopkinsville clubs.

Mrs. Zubrod is calling the clubmen's attention to some recent honors that have come to Kentucky artists. The praise given Mr. Charles Snedad Helm's Lexington exhibit to Miss Katherine Welchard's medal for work in miniature, the Pierian Club, of Lawrenceburg has bought a building site paying for the same $1,600.

A surprise birthday party was given Miss Thelma Wilson, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, of West Irvine, on October 16. It was indeed a great surprise to Miss Thelma, who had been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson, at Moberley, to find assembled thirty-seven of her little friends on her return home. A delicious luncheon was served at four o'clock by her mother, and Mrs. W. D. Richardson, Mrs. Alvis Roark and Miss Mattie Taylor. The birthday cake was glazed with twelve small varicolored candles, and twelve candles burned while the luncheon, which consisted of cakes, candies, fruits and hot chocolate was served. The table was beautifully decorated with ferns, white roses and chrysanthemums. The afternoon was greatly enjoyed by all present and will always be held in remembrance as one of the pleasant events of their lives.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Browning and Mr. W. Vernon Richardson will take place in Washington City at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Browning, on Wednesday, November 3.

It will be very quiet, owing to recent bereavement in the family of the bride-to-be. After the wedding the bride and groom will leave on New York, from which place they will sail for S. S. Panama for Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone.—Danville Advertiser.

Mr. Richardson is well and favorably known to many Richmond people. For a number of years he was editor of the Daily Advocate and is a thorough newspaper man. He is now the worthy and trusted secretary of Senator Ollie J. James. His legion of friends wish him and his fair bride bon voyage upon the matrimonial sea.

A general program of work to stimulate and encourage the love and study of art is being carried forward by the Art Department in the Kentucky Federation. Mrs. Alfred Zubrod, of Lexington, and her associates are gathering and giving out news of pictures and paints and all the while looking forward to such large things as an art museum and a State Art Commission.

Fifty thousand women, in the most magnificent appeal that any cause has ever known in New York, strode up Fifth Avenue to Washington Square and Fifty-ninth Street Oct. 23rd, in the name of woman suffrage.

The most wonderful dignity attended it all.—Louisville Herald.

Mr. J. G. Crabb, State Chairman of the Federation Press is being highly commended for her efficient work in this department.

Local Club Notes

The Woman's Club of Richmond held a meeting of unusual interest on Monday the 25th inst.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. J. G. Crabb, chairman of the Department of Community Interests, outlined very happily her program for the year. She then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Judge Grant E. Lilly, whose subject was:

Our City.

Its City Officials and their Salaries.

City Laws.

City ordinances and their enforcement.

Following a charming description of the national beauties and acquired advantages of the little city "lying at the footfalls of the Cumberland Mountains," Judge Lilly took up in brief detail the several divisions of his subject, giving in the simplest and clearest way, much information on each. He illustrated very wittily the difference between a law and an ordinance.

Estill Oil Fields.

The shallow sand field of Estill county is one of the best examples of an abandoned district coming back. Eastern operators have been drilling in that territory with good results, the latest completion showing a production of 30 barrels daily. A number of other wells are now going down, and arrangements are being made for a restoration of the pipe line which formerly gave an outlet for the county's production. Estill county contains a sand distinct from any other formation encountered by upper Kentucky operators. Paying petroleum is found at a depth ranging from 200 to 300 feet; light operating expense making the district a good proposition.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Daddy's Bedtime Story
The Story of Yesterday's Flowers.

"I WILL tell you kiddies tonight the story of Yesterday's flowers," said daddy.

"It happened in a rose garden, through which Yesterday was wandering. She was a dear old lady with silvery hair, for you know, daddy, Yesterday is a lovely person who grows very old in a day."

"Yesterday was really a ghost, for she passes in a day, and so you see it was not she at all. And she wandered around the rose garden with her silvery hair, and her eyes were as blue as the summer sky of the new day, and her cheeks even in old age retained their pinkish softness.

"And she wandered about the garden looking for her flowers, poor Yesterday's flowers. There had been roses and sweet peas and geraniums and daffodils and ever so many other flowers, all beautiful in color and with the sweet fragrance of perfume, they had bloomed in profusion, making the garden a lovely place to visit, and poor Yesterday had so enjoyed herself among her flowers in that exquisite place.

"And Yesterday beheld many beautiful flowers, but she was not at all satisfied, for she knew her own blooms, and these were not among them.

"So the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday lifted up her thin voice and wept.

"Oh, where are my lovely flowers that I cared so much for?" she wailed. "They were so beautiful for me and smelled so sweet, and the people in the great house yonder came to see them and smelled them and exclaimed over their richness, and now I cannot find them. Where are they?"

"Then, lo and behold, a lovely maiden who was walking in the garden said to the wailing ghost of Yesterday:

"Why are you crying, my poor, dear old lady? And who are you?"

"I am the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday," responded the other, "I am the old, white-haired ghost of Yesterday, and I have come for my flowers that grew so large and sweet and lovely."

"Oh!" answered the beautiful maiden. "I am Today, and the flowers you are now looking at are mine. Yours are withered and gone, my dear."

"Then the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday wept once more, but Today comforted her, saying:

"You mustn't cry, my dear. Your flowers comforted many people while you were alive, and they have served their purpose. Mine do the same today. Soon I shall be a dear old lady ghost like you. A little bird told me so. Then Tomorrow's flowers will comfort the world."

"Then the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday stopped crying, for she saw things as they have always been."

Paragraphs From Stanley's Speeches.

"I unearthed the ground wire that connected the Senate of the United States with 111 Fifth Avenue, New York, between the desk of Nelson A. Aldrich and the home of the trusts."

"I had spread upon the record of Congress the checks and vouchers, the indisputable proof of their scarlet sins."

"Will the intelligent citizenship of Kentucky entrust a party with power that knows nothing of invisible government, or knowing is too timid or corrupt to give you its solemn pledge to destroy it?"

"If I elected Governor of Kentucky I solemnly and earnestly pledge the people of the commonwealth here and now that I will turn the calcium light upon the lobbyist and upon all who seek to procure positions of honor or privilege by any secret of unholy alliance with him."

"The eyes of the President look down upon you. Where, oh where, is the Democrat at this crucial hour, who will prove recalcitrant to his mighty chief? Inspiring as a candidate, greater as a patient and constructive statesman, he is greatest as the wise, fearless, far-seeing diplomat, preserving at once inviolate the honor of his country and the peace of half the world."

"Not the creation but the equitable distribution of wealth, is the great problem confronting the law makers of America."

"The party which had the stomach in 1900 to endorse without reserve the resolute and patriotic course of W. L. Taylor has, at this good hour, never a word to say in commendation of either the Republicans, National or State administrations."

"The Republican platform contains no anti-trust plank, no pledge to curb corporate greed or punish corporate crime. The reason is not far to seek, it prefers to betray the people rather than offend the interests."

"If I am elected Governor of Kentucky my time will not be given to saying things but doing them."

"Though still living our President has already earned an immortal place among those dead but sceptered sovereigns, who still rule our spirits from the urns."

"Your failure, were failure possible, will appall the Democracy of America, and your victory will thrill with delight and inspire with new courage the militant Democracy of the nation."

Stanley Wonderful Man.

The career of Owlesley Stanley since boyhood has been most remarkable. By close study of political economy and his indomitable will power, together with a large and extensive knowledge of men, he has been able to thoroughly understand the wants of the masses.

There is no man in the South so well qualified to render valuable services to the whole people as he.

Take his career from the time of his induction into office and his every act has demonstrated that he possesses an unusual amount of business capacity and a mind that is as clear as crystal. While a member of Congress he was not classified as one of the ordinary representatives. He was always in the front pew and what he said was not only eloquent but full of logic. No man received more absolute attention on all occasions than Stanley. While chairman of his committee he never knew what it was to become fatigued. With an untiring energy and magnificent ability he has proven that he is one of the political jewels of the present day.

Extracts From Mr. McChesney's Speech.

Lawrenceburg, October 18.—"I have come to Lawrenceburg today to urge all Democrats of this county to follow their usual custom and vote the straight Democratic ticket at the coming election."

"I entered the primary in good faith and I accept the result as a good Democrat ought and shall give the whole ticket my loyal support."

"Majority rule is the cardinal principle of Democracy and for this campaign the majority has spoken and every Democrat should vote the straight ticket."

Stanley's main course in urging the war department to waive all formalities and allow Mr. Morrow's brother to make public speeches in favor of the Republican ticket plainly shows the keen sense of respect which he has for a foe,

GREAT OVATION

Given Hon. A. O. Stanley Here Thursday Night.

Thursday night was Stanley night in Richmond. It was a great outpouring of Democrats and many others who greeted Mr. Stanley at the court house in this city.

Thursday afternoon Chairman H. H. Colyer, Hon. L. B. Herrington and Mr. Thomas H. Pickels motored to Winchester to hear the distinguished statesman and orator deliver his message to the people of Clark county. At the conclusion of his address in that city, the above named gentleman took the stalwart democrat in charge and proceeded to this city in an automobile, reaching here about 7 o'clock.

Long before the appointed hour for the speaking, the spacious court room was filled with many enthusiastic democrats and admiring friends of the distinguished Kentuckian. When Mr. Stanley made his appearance in the magnificient assembly at 7:30 o'clock, he was greeted with vociferous cheering. It was an old-fashioned democratic love feast. Every available inch of space was taken. The windows were full, seats were all taken, and the rear was packed like sardines in a box, all eager to hear the Democratic nominee for Governor. There were many from the rural districts who came to pay homage to the man of such sterling worth. Many ladies graced the crowd and were as enthusiastic in their applause as were the men.

Mr. Thomas H. Pickels, editor of the Kentucky Register, in a most pleasing and captivating manner, introduced the speaker. Mr. Pickels did himself and the democracy of Madison county proud, and has been the recipient of many encomiums for the charming manner in which he presented Mr. Stanley to our people. He made an excellent introductory speech and was roundly applauded.

When Mr. Stanley made his bow to the crowd, he was roundly cheered and when he began speaking a silence fell upon the great crowd and ever ear was attentive to catch the eloquent words which flowed from the lips of the great orator. From the time he began speaking until the close, for fully one hour and thirty minutes, there was not a dull moment. The speaker reviewed some of his achievements in the Federal Congress and told how the Republicans used to corral the Democrats in the Representatives Hall in a corner known as the "Cherokee Strip." At that time there were less than one hundred Democrats in Congress, and the insolent Republicans would taunt and jeer them, and they were looked upon as the scavengers of the earth. But, he said,

"Thank God, things have since changed. The Republicans are now occupying the 'Cherokee Strip' in the Lower House, the man who called attention to the sins of division and sectarianism in the churches; 'General Booth,' the man who discovered anew the value of the human soul.

Morning sermon: "The Dissolving Tent." You will be interested in these sermons and also in others to be preached Sunday mornings.

Mrs. Phillip Snowden, one of the most widely known women of the Suffrage cause, will deliver a lecture at the Christian church on Saturday evening, November 6th, at 8 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited. Mrs. Snowden is a woman of brilliant intellect, combined with youth and great personal charm. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Madison County Equal Rights Association.

In recounting some of his experiences with "Invisible Government" and dealings with the trusts, the great financial and industrial vampires of the State and nation, he said:

"Not the creation but the equitable distribution of wealth is the great problem confronting the law-makers of America. Men everywhere realize more and more that inordinate wealth and widespread penury are in great measure attributable to this inequitable distribution secured by illegal combinations of capital and the creation of gigantic monopolies.

"The one act calculated to protect the people of Kentucky from exploitation and plunder by trusts and monopolies has been declared unconstitutional, and today, this State stands naked and defenseless, a prey to every crooked combination and every form of corporate conspiracy, a snug harbor for every commercial pirate, seeking refuge from the wise legislation and the righteous wrath of forty-seven sister States."

"In the face of this appalling state of affairs, the Republican platform contains no anti-trust plank, no pledge to curb corporate greed or to punish corporate crime. The reason is not far to seek, it prefers to betray the people rather than offend the interests."

Mr. Stanley paid his respects to Mr. Edwin P. Morrow, his Republican opponent in a manly and dignified manner. He said Mr. Morrow was a nice young man, an honest young fellow, and if elected Governor, he believed he would endeavor to give the people a good, clean administration, if left wholly to himself. But he said this was impossible. He said that Mr. Morrow from the time of his weaning, had been holding on to the public teat, which was placed in his mouth by his uncle, the late Senator William O. Bradley. He paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Morrow's father, the late lamented Judge Morrow, and characterized him as one of the greatest Jurists Kentucky ever produced.

From the time the curtain went up until it went down, so to speak. Mr. Stanley thrilled and charmed all who heard him. It was the general consensus of the opinion that it was one of the greatest political speeches ever delivered in Richmond. And we say, Amen!

Mr. Stanley remained in Richmond during over night and was given a hearty welcome during his stay in our midst. He left on the 6:10 train for Winchester, where he took the L. & E. train for Jackson, addressing a big gathering of Democrats in the Breathitt county capital in the afternoon.

The Democracy of Madison is active and harmonious, and when the ballots are counted on November 2, the majority for Stanley and the entire Democratic ticket is sure to be eminently satisfactory.

Fox Hunters Meet in Estill County.

The Central Kentucky Fox Hunters' Association adjourned Saturday, after a very delightful session held at Winston, Estill county. The attendance was large and foxes and dogs were plentiful. Six handsome prizes were awarded, the derby race being won by S. J. Tucker, of Winchester, while the hunting cup, the endurance race and the all-age stake was captured by J. L. Kanatzar, of Madison. The all-age-trailing and hunting cup was won by S. L. Woolridge, of Versailles. The combination cup was won by J. L. Kanatzar.

Stanley's main course in urging the war department to waive all formalities and allow Mr. Morrow's brother to make public speeches in favor of the Republican ticket plainly shows the keen sense of respect which he has for a foe,
